SUUNTO

Computer Power

Suunto has unveiled the world's first watch-size rebreather-compatible dive computer, the DX. It comes with a number of features, including CCR compatibility. The design combined with the new, advanced Suunto Fused™ RGBM algorithm make it an ideal tool for open circuit and rebreather divers. Suunto DX is a non-monitoring set point dive computer that works as a support computer for the rebreather. It also contains all the advanced dive functions for open circuit divers such as trimix support including helium and oxygen, and gas switching between up to eight gases to satisfy the needs of any diver. The DX comes with a scratch-resistant sapphire crystal glass, titanium case and optional titanium bracelet.

DYSON

Clean Up

Dyson has engineered a new way to clean. The new Digital Slim™ DC44 Animal is a lightweight cordless vacuum cleaner, engineered for nimble, high performance cleaning. A lightweight aluminium wand reaches from floor to ceiling and can be detached for compact spaces like car cleaning. Weighing just 2.3kg Digital Slim™ has a balanced weight distribution for high, low, awkward and in-between spaces. The cleaner uses patented Root Cyclone™ technology and the Dyson digital motor. New battery technology delivers a high constant fade free 20 minute run time with no drop in performance. For stubborn dirt, a button can trigger 8 minutes of boost suction. The Dyson Digital Slim™ costs RM1,999.

JEEP

Limitless

Jeep has launched a new collection themed Love the Earth. Inspired by the shades and elements of nature, the latest collection aims to encourage an appreciation of the beauty of the Earth. The designs are more rugged in this collection to meet the tastes of today's adventurous and stylish men. Cargo pants and jeans are improved again in materials, fitting and colour tones, while chequered shirts are refreshed with new prints and earthy tones, such as khaki, grey and brown. Basic tops are refreshed with colours like blue, green, yellow, and others. Denim shirts and military jackets are better fitting. For shoes, calf leather boots and shoes come in rugged designs for travelling and social gatherings.

NIKE

Air Time

Nike has launched the Air Max+ 2013m, which provides lightweight, soft cushioning and more flexibility than any previous version. Nike Hyperfuse construction is used throughout the shoe to create a lighter, more breathable upper and a reduced overall weight, without sacrificing on comfort. Open-hole mesh on the upper serves the dual purpose of allowing increased ventilation for comfort on the run and generating a sleek appearance. A notched inner sleeve wraps around the foot, while a moulded collar supports the ankle to create an improved fit. The Nike Air Max+ 2013 is now available at www.nike.com
